

ADEMCONo. 5803
WIRELESS KEY
TRANSMITTER*INSTALLATION INSTRUCTIONS

The Ademco 5803 is a compact, 3-button portable wireless transmitter that may be used to arm (STAY or AWAY) or disarm the system from a remote location. The actual response to the transmitter's signal will be determined by programming at the control/receiver.

The 5803 is intended for use only with wireless alarm systems that support 5800 series devices.

The 5803 is powered by a non-replaceable Lithium battery designed to provide up to 4 or more years of life. The entire 5803 should be replaced when a low battery is indicated by the control unit.

Programming the Serial Number and System Response:

The 5803 has a unique serial number for each button permanently assigned during manufacture.

The control system is required to "learn" the transmitter's serial numbers (for each button) during installation of the system. All 5803 transmitters should be programmed as "BR" type units (i.e., unsupervised "Button RF"). Each button must be assigned to a separate zone if all buttons are used.

Note: During the "learning" procedure, two transmissions must be sent (by pressing the button being learned). Allow at least 8 seconds between transmissions.

With some controls (e.g., VISTA 40, 50), the 5803 must be assigned to a user code before it will operate.

See the control unit's Installation Instructions for further details regarding programming of responses to this transmitter's signal.

FCC STATEMENT

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following conditions: (1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.
